SENIORS

From the moment Sheldon's doors opened in the fall, seniors looked forward to the events that would mark the culmination of their high school career:

Graduation pictures to be taken

Graduation announcements to be ordered

Class gift, motto, flower, colors to be chosen

Senior assembly and breakfast to be planned

The class of '67 also found time to be active in athletics, drama, music, student government, and other organizations. They proved their spirit by winning the majority of class competitions and taking first place in Sheldon's canned food drive.

And then it was June 9. Dressed in green and white robes, the graduating class of 1967 said goodbye to their Alma Mater.

The first concern of the junior class was organizing the junior-senior prom "Moonlight and Roses." Many hours of hard work by industrious juniors made this annual event the most memorable night of the year.

In addition to their fund-raising projects, including a rally dance and concessions, the juniors found time to join in other school activties. The class took first place in the "Beat South" sign competition during spirit week and took second in Sheldon's canned food drive. Their spirit undaunted, they made it a point to try even harder next year.

Once again the hallways of Sheldon High School were flooded with anxious sophomores ready to embark on their high school career. Helping the 465 new Irish become acquainted with the Sheldon traditions were the annual "Big-Little-Sister Picnic" and "Hello Week."

Though they started off slowly taking last place in the canned food drive, the sophomores proved their spirit by winning the victory bell over the junior and senior classes. To build their treasury the class sold concessions and sponsored a rally dance and donut sale.

After an exciting week of campaigning the sophomores elected their officers. It didn't take long for their spirit and enthusiasm to overshadow any doubts and once again the sophomores became an important part of the fighting Irish.

Bill Maris takes a ten cent "bash."

Sheldon's traditional "Hello Week," September 7 through 9, served the purpose of welcoming new students and initiating sophomores into the school. Students became acquainted with each other through the wearing of name tags on Wednesday. The next day beanies were distributed to all sophomores. They wore the beanies all day or suffered upper classmen harassment. On Friday, a "car bash" was held to raise money to pay for the beanies. The week was concluded with an assembly, during which sophomores filed by and kissed the Blarney Stone. Several slam and cooperation awards were given and sophomores received their new identities as Sheldon students.

Cathy Caven and Wayne Dammen are sophomore girl and boy of the week.

Janice Pratt and Craig Stevenson are friendliest girl and boy of the week.

Slam award winners are Mark Petersen, Chuck Pape, Wayne Dammen, Larry Lewis, and Denny Allison.

Seniors win food drive again

As Rudy Dam wipes pie from his face, Kevin Rhoden awaits the same reward.

Losers will find out whether the pies taste as good as they look.

Sheldon's annual Canned Food Drive for the Salvation Army got off to a good start this year. However, difficulties developed towards the middle of the campaign. The Junior class was penalized for "borrowing" some of the sophomores' cans. In quest of victory, the Seniors purchased $37.00 worth of food, enabling them to take the lead with 7,805 pounds, and left the Sophomores trailing with 3,812.

The week's efforts were climaxed by the traditional pie throwing spectacle, in classes, which the losing classes' advisors had their pie and felt it too.

Tons of canned food were collected by Sheldon students.

Mr. Jensen, the sophomores' advisor, meets his fate bravely.

assembly entertains

The Dublinaires, led by Mr. Kirschner, sing "Silver Bells."

The folk duo of Karm Hagedorn and Bill Maris sing "A'Soalin."

The entire cast gets on stage for the finale.

The activities of the week before Christmas were climaxed by the Christmas Assembly. Everything from scenery production to choreography was put in the hands of students for the "variety show." Bill Maris was the director and Susan Funke choreographed the dance numbers. Among the numerous acts were a scene in Santa's workshop, a folk duo and traditional carols.

Class of '66 Returns

Hungry alums eye refreshments provided by Sheldon girls.

Mr. Laudenslauger, acting as Santa Claus for the day, showers students with candy.

The exchanging of season's greetings mingled with the tone of Christmas carols and the fragrance of evergreen trees as a group of 1966 graduates returned December 23 to visit with former teachers and classmates. The festivity of the day ended with cookies and punch being served, and everyone joining in singing Christmas carols with the A'Cappella choir in the cafeteria.

From the beach, to Carnegie Hall, to the Emerald Room high atop the Sheldon Hilton, AFS presents Sheldon's Shenanigans '67.

The talent show, emceed by Sheri Brothers and Bob Stapp, featured a spectrum of acts — and ages — from a faculty quartet to a group of four and five-year-old dancing Mary Poppins'. Variety existed in the musical numbers too, including jazz, blues, and folk.

Proceeds from the well attended show went to the AFS Committee to help sponsor an exchange student.

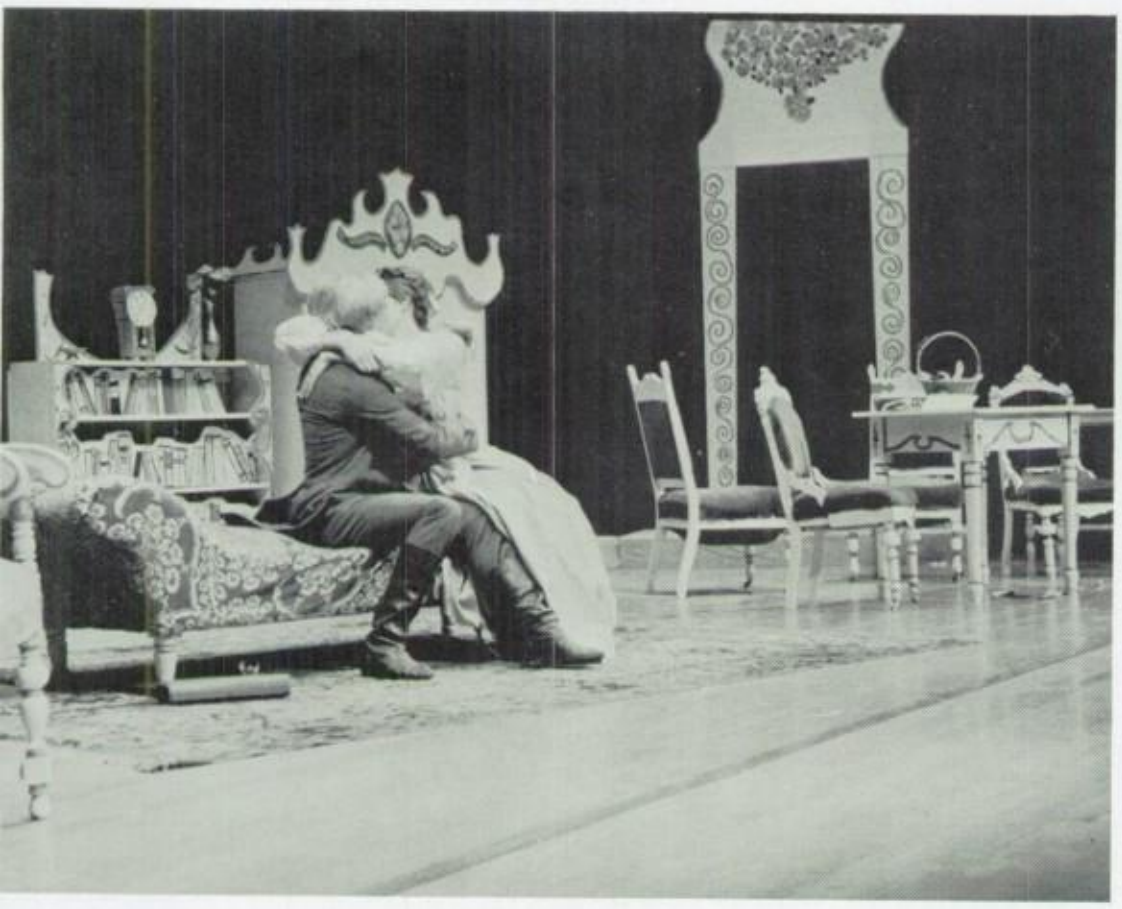
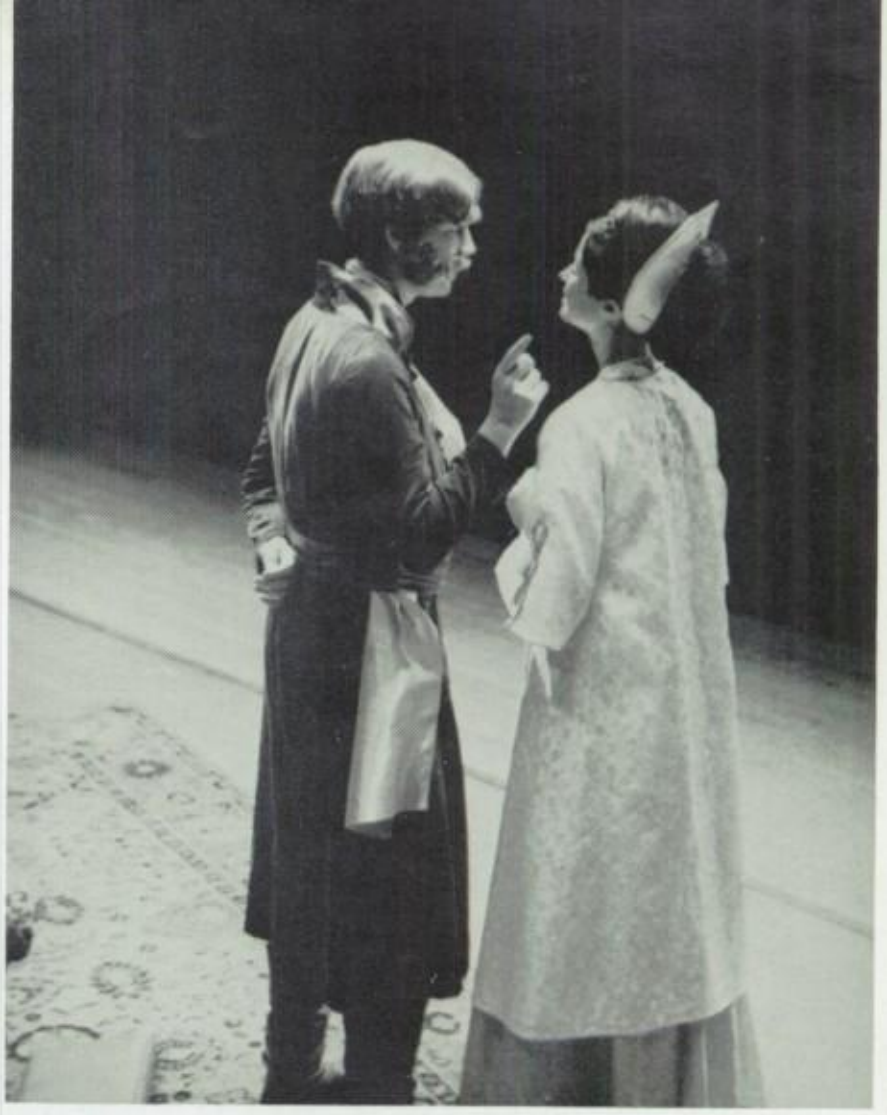
General



Joyce Hansen, like the other townspeople, is taken by the phony inspector general, Wane Fuday.



Charles Milhaupt and Ellen Brownhill seriously discuss the inspector general.

The major fall production, The Inspector General, was a Russian comedy about a young "ne'er do-well" who was mistaken for a government official. He used his assumed identity to beguile the mayor's wife and daughter and to dupe the entire town.

The play was presented on November 11 and 12, after many long weeks of rehearsal. Patricia Gibson, a rigorous director, was assisted by Sharm Newton.

The cast consisted of 40 students. These included Ellen Brownhill, Kim Johnsen, Bill Maris, and Wane Fuday, veterans of Sheldon's stage. New talent in leading roles included Charles Milhaupt, Karm Hagedorn, and Joyce Hansen.

Wane Fuday flatters his way out of many difficulties.

Greg Farman, Thisbe, and Judy Long, Pyramus, are forced to pursue their romance through the chink in the disinterested "Wall," played by Chris Hixson.

Potpourri consisted of a cutting from a Shakespearean comedy, a spoof on turn-of-the-century melodrama, a pantomime play, and a "quasi-happening." The production was under the direction of Ed Chilla, stagecraft teacher at Sheldon and graduate student in drama at the University of Oregon. This show was experimental in that the audience sat on the stage, the performers themselves playing on a raised platform in the center. It was our first play to run for five performances, two of which were matinees.

Ellen Brownhill, Kay Erskine, and Chris Hixson, three witches in 4 Hats, await the arrival of Mrs. Meanie.

Kay Erskine, Lady Magnesia Fitztollemache, and her maid, Kris Balle, listen for the clock to strike sixteen.

Greg Farman as Melvin, the "good" wizard in 4 Hats, sleeps peacefully while the witches dance.

Kris Balle, a lovely princess in 4 Hats, dances while picking posies.

Chris Hixson, Wall in Midsummer Night's Dream, rubs her injured foot after Pyramus stepped on it because she refused to show her chink.

Marsha Foley plays Moonshine in Midsummer Night's Dream.

War of the Worlds

The Secretary of Interior, played by Bruce Garner, looks on as Professor Pierson, John Pierce, observes explosion on Mars.

Yvonne Davis watches as John Fuller announces that a giant meteor has just hit the earth.

War of the Worlds, by H. G. Wells, was originally a radio play. The director, Mr. Kenneth Payne, adapted it for use in Sheldon's Little Theatre. The plot involved the observations of explosions on Mars. The public seemed unconcerned about this occurrence until what seemed to be a giant meteor crashed into the earth. The meteor was investigated and found to be a spaceship. The ship was inhabited, and the invaders emerged and devastated the world.

Larry Marcus, a pilot, is bombing the assumed giant meteor which crashed into the earth.

Aria da Capo was a one act play by Edna St. Vincent Millay. Steve Hettick directed the five actors in this difficult play. Bob Stapp and Melissa Ervin played the bored socialites who had done everything, and could enjoy nothing. They were interrupted in their prattle by a disinterested stage manager (Greg Farman) who eventually forced two reluctant shepherds, played by John Pierce and Bob Everett, to kill each other. At this point the socialites returned, still talking about nothing.

110° in the Shade has been said to be "The Rainmaker, plus music." The play is set in a western town which is suffering from a drought. It concerns a woman in her latter twenties who is trying, with little luck, to find a husband. She considers herself plain and unattractive. However, an imaginative young "rainmaker" comes to town and sees her differently. He thinks she is beautiful and asks her to go away with him. In the meantime, the sheriff of the town has fallen for her inner beauty. Confronted with the two men who wish to marry her, she decides to stay in her home town, with the people she loves and the simple, ordinary life she is used to.

The play, with director Patricia Gibson and assistant directors Laraine Eloranta and Kim Johnsen, proved to be a "smash." It was a sellout for all three nights and received a standing ovation on the third. Varied musical numbers and drama mixed with comedy made 110° in the Shade another success for Sheldon.

December 17, couples gathered in the cafeteria to dance and converse to the music of the Steve Scott quartet.

Decorations followed the theme of the Christmas season: a forest of evergreens, wreaths covered with candy canes and bells, and a large white tree with blue lights.

Queen Lori Christensen and princesses Marc Wiles and Mary Gilbert, were escorted in to take their places for presentation of roses. Entertainers Karm Hagedorn and Bill Maris sang folk songs. Carolyn Moon, general chairman for the event, made introductions of performers and the royal court, as well as introducing couples as they entered.

Master of ceremonies for the coronation was Rudy Dam.

This year Spring Week put less of an emphasis on wearing spring clothes and concentrated more on student-teacher activities. The week's theme was "Crazy Daisy Days."

The week began with "Petunia Print Day" on which students were encouraged to wear print dresses and shirts. The crowning point of Tuesday, "Bachelor Button Day," was a slave auction in which buttons and money purchased Mr. Flynn, Mr. Diddock, Mr. Browning, and Paul Murphy. On Wednesday, "Tulip Twirp Day," students became teachers.

The climax of the week was Friday, "Pantsy Day." During an extended lunch period, a live band entertained, and faculty-student and interclass tug-of-wars were held.

By definition the senior assembly is a time when students can vent their frustrations with humorous take-offs on events from their high school career. In other words, it is a psychoanalyst's dream come true.

This year the main sources of frustration apparently were the eight-period day, independent study badges, student council, poor spirit —well, school in general. And so sixty singing, acting, and dancing seniors presented a forty-minute satire featuring a school-board tour through Sheldon.

Lyrics for the musical numbers were set to Broadway showtunes; thus "Everything Beautiful Happens at Night" became "Nothing Cool Ever Happens at School" and "Seventy-six Trombones Led the Big Parade" became "Seventy-six Big Cheers for the Study Badge."

High spots of the "tour" were skits performed in various student "hangouts"—the library, cafeteria, science lab, P.E. department, and study center.

The traditional ceremonies of Baccalaureate and Commencement finished off the not-so-traditional year for this year's Sheldon seniors. Father James MacConnell was the main speaker at Baccalaureate, enlarging on the topic, "A Generation Between the Times." Most seniors enjoyed the service because it was short. Student speakers were Valerie Anderson, Cheryl Devine, and Ellen Brownhill. George Albertus was the organist.

June 9, at 8:00, the seniors marched into the plaza for the last time. Laraine Eloranta gave the invocation. Dennis Gory and Shelley Lindgren gave the student addresses, and Harry Dillin, President of Linfield College, spoke on the "Four R's": Reason, Responsibility, Religion, and Resourcefulness.

Following the presentation of diplomas, the seniors reinstated an old tradition by changing the tassels on their mortarboards from the left side to the right, thereby signifying their new status: High school graduates.

These included an oversized study pass given to Mr. Flynn, a golden shovel given to Steve Ireland, and an award for the most improved lover given to Greg Farman. Mr. Arbuckle was an entertaining master of ceremonies.

ASB Officers

The student body officers began work directly at the close of the 1965-66 school year. Candidates for committee chairmen were screened and selected; the new chairmen in turn chose their committee members in accordance with a precedent set by the officers that no person may serve on more than one committee. Four of the officers attended a summer leadership council at the University of Oregon. The information they gained about student council workings was passed on to the 1966-67 student council members at a Saturday workshop shortly after school started.

The student body officers comprised Executive Council which planned Student Council agendas and initiated a number of new procedures aimed at streamlining business, including a new filing system. Another innovation required that motions be written up before being brought to the council.

In addition to their traditional duties, the officers assumed some special responsibilities. Nancy Fraser, historian, assumed responsibility for the main bulletin board; Kim Johnsen, vice-president, took on the duties of president during the summer because of Dwight Purdy's absence; Dennis Gory, treasurer, headed the special committee formed to inquire into study in the plaza.

On May 31, the 1966-67 officers swore in the 1967-68 officers, thereby ending the school year.

students take action

Steve Ireland rises to question the chair.

Members discuss the issue before voting.

A motion to accept the proposal is given by Paul Murphy

Highlights of council action during the 1966-67 school year were abolishment of grade point requirements for student body officers, construction of a student center, development of a plan for study in the plaza, and discussion of a proposal for abolishing student council.

A by-laws amendment was passed early in the year, making a 3.0 grade point not necessary for ASB or class officers. An increased number of candidates was the hoped for result. The student center proposal was initiated by Brian Strayer, chairman of that committee. Plans were drawn up; and the framework and ticket booth were built, the carpet laid, and the furniture ordered. The proposal to allow students to study in the plaza was first presented to the faculty by student council. They sent it back asking that the council formulate a plan under which the proposal could function. The student committee brought their report to council, where it passed, but it was defeated in a close vote by the faculty because of inadequacies such as the unfeasibility of the student court proposed to enforce plaza study regulations. Further study was planned by both groups for 1967-68.

Abolishment of student council and placement of their jurisdiction in executive council became another controversial topic. The reason behind the proposal was an apparent lack of interest among many members of the council. The proposal succeeded in initiating deep consideration and lively discussion on the topic of apathy. Officers, representatives, and the student body as a whole were caused to re-evaluate their attitudes toward student government. The amendment itself was defeated during a roll call vote.

The Sheldon Chapter of the National Honor Society installed twenty juniors and nine seniors at ceremonies in October and March. Membership was based on a 3.4 G.P.A. for seniors and a 3.5 G.P.A. for juniors, leadership, character, and service to the school.

The big social event of the year was the annual post-Christmas, pre-New Year party, complete with refreshments and the "Twister" game. On April 14, fourteen members attended the National Honor Society state convention at Willamette University, where the featured speaker was Governor Tom McCall. Other club activities included maintaining the Honor Roll plaque and sponsoring a math tutoring program.

JERRI REPRESENTS SHELDON

Jerri Speilman was selected as Sheldon's candidate for Roundup Princess. Having had many rewarding years of riding, Jerri received her first horse when she was five and has participated in shows all over the Northwest. In 1966 she won the saddle given to the High Point Jr. Rider in Oregon; and in 1967 was named the Girls' Barrel Racing Champion at the Pacific Indoor Rodeo at the Portland Coliseum.

Newly elected student body officers Linda Bussell, Jerry Kudelko, Jim Fryback, Steve Meyn, Ed Ruiz, and Karen Duncan pose on the plaza steps.

Throughout the week of April 24 through 28, candidates for ASB offices decorated the halls with colorful posters and the students with tags of all sizes and shapes.

On Tuesday, candidates gave impromptu speeches on the subject of apathy in Student Council. Student manager and presidential candidates were subjected to a question and answer period after their speeches. Students in the audience addressed questions pertaining to the offices and their relating activities.

Friday, the Rally try-out assembly began Election Day. At noon, students voted for Rally and ASB officers on Votomatic machines. Ballots were processed by a computor at the Lane County Courthouse.

The candidates for officers of the 1967-68 school year were: President: Jerry Kudelko and Jim Monsey; Vice-President: Jim Fryback and Rudy Dam; Secretary: Karen Duncan and Shelley Smith; Treasurer: Steve Meyn and Ken Beeson; Historian: Linda Bussell and Sherry Sahlstrom; Student Manager: Ed Ruiz and Judy Long.

Signs covered the halls in one of the biggest election turnouts in Sheldon's history.

The band marches at the University of Oregon-Idaho game.

Tramp, tramp, tramp . . . The advanced band marched through many a football halftime, including a special performance at the University of Oregon.

When winter came, the band moved inside for the Christmas Concert and two exchange concerts with Centennial High School from Gresham. Select members of the band and orchestra also played for Sheldon's production of 110° in the Shade.

In June, the band went to Portland to march in the Merrykhana Parade, their last performance of the year.

The stage band added music to many of Sheldon's activities, including the talent show and Christmas assembly. They also gave public performances for the Lions Club and at various dances.

Wherever they went they brought "the sound of music," first to Sheldon and then to the whole community. The A'Cappella Choir performed in several concerts, including two with Centennial High School.

In mid-December they joined the choirs from North Eugene, South Eugene, and Churchill high schools for a performance of the Messiah at MacArthur Court. Later that month they appeared on KVAL-TV.

In April, the choir made their traditional trek to Salem for the Jester Hairston Festival. Their final performance was a tradition too, as they provided music for the Baccalaureate and Commencement.

Members of Sheldon's orchestra performed various concerts throughout the year, including participation in both school and civic functions. Two orchestra members, brothers Steve and Richard Meyn, represented Sheldon at All Northwest Orchestra.

The green blazers and brocade dresses of the Dublinaires added style to many a concert. Outstanding among their contributions to Sheldon's musical programs were performances in the talent show and the Christmas assembly. As Sheldon's "show group" they also performed for civic organizations around town, including the Country Club and the Salvation Army.

The Girls' Choir joined with girls from South Eugene to take part in the Christmas Concert. Later in the school year they provided a vocal interval during the Spring Band Concert.

In mid-winter three Girls' Choir members and three A'Cappella Choir members joined forces to compete in a regional contest, a preliminary event to the All Northwest Choir.

May 19 was the date of the big Spring Concert, the choir's final performance. And so the year ended as it had begun, with the sound of music.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

Sherry Sahlstrom, Valda Shields, Marianne Carlon, and Linn Samuelson work on flowers for the Mother-Daughter Tea.

With the Big and Little Sister picnic in September the Girls' League started out the 1966-67 school year.

In December they sponsored the Christmas Dance, Silver Bells; in February the Dad-Daughter Banquet, My Heart Belongs to Daddy; and in April the Mother-Daughter Tea.

To earn enough money to sponsor these activities they sold donuts at lunch.

American Field Service students from North Eugene, South Eugene, Thurston, and Junction City high schools spoke at the AFS Assembly in February. Another speaker was Debbie Prince, a Sheldon student who went to Germany last summer.

To raise the $1,500 needed to exchange students with a foreign country, the club sponsored the AFS Dinner, sold programs at the musical, and helped in an all school talent show.

In June, the Club was host to over thirty exchange students on their way to New York, the first lap of their trip home.

chess club

By the heads-up playing of Steve Meyn, Terry Walls, Gerald Holt, John Fuller, and Alan Reed, the Sheldon Chess Club got off to a good start. Steve Elder, Bruce Johnson, and John Jolley also contributed wins, but the chess club faltered while playing last year's champions. In addition to inter-school competition the club had a system of challenge games between members.

The purposes of the Future Medical Careers Club are to explore the opportunities in medical and health careers and to serve the school and community.

Projects included sending Christmas presents to servicemen in Vietnam and to patients in the State Hospital and touring the Children's Farm Home in Corvallis. They served as volunteer nurses' aids at the hospital, the blood bank, and the TB clinic, and made field trips to several mental institutions. Among the social events was a joint potluck dinner for the FMC clubs of seven other schools.

The purpose of the language clubs is to study the culture of other countries and to share this knowledge with others.

This year, the German Club initiation included a trip across the plastic-wading-pool-Rhine River, a climb through the cafeteria-table Alps, and a taste of very sour vinegar, disguised as Rhein wine. On other occasions, members showed their slides of Europe.

Highlights of the year were the caroling party at the Christmas Village and the annual Bavarian Luau—a spring picnic.

At the French-Spanish Alliance Club initiation, "it was dark," according to one of the initiates, as old members lead them through a maze. Later their knowledge of French and Spanish cultures was tested in team competition. Among their contributions to the school was a sharing of this knowledge through a display of French and Spanish artifacts in the main hall.

President Phil Rhoads speaks out at French-Spanish Club meeting.

The ski club boasted a membership of over one hundred this year with never fewer than thirty-five participating in the trips. The biggest event of the club's ski season was the trip during Christmas vacation. Sheldon skiers slalomed, snowplowed, and sitzmarked their way through four days at Hoodoo Bowl. Apres ski headquarters were at the Presbyterian Lodge.

Thespian Troupe 2544 spent the year raising money to improve drama. Under the leadership of advisor Mrs. Gibson and officers Wayne Fuday, Greg Farman, Chris Hixon, and Judy Long, the Thespians sponsored the Hello Week Dance. Students enjoyed the rather unusual "underground night club" theme, complete with tables, pizza and coke, entertainment, special lighting effects, and a live band. The proceeds from this and other fund raising projects went to finance the new PA system for the auditorium, a trip to the national convention in April, and a drama scholarship.

Who was the star of the Talisman staff this year? The new $500 electric typewriter, of course. The machine was purchased when the Journalism Department decided to type and print their own paper. This job included laying it out and processing the pictures in the school darkroom.

Seven of the staff, Steve Cornacchia, Elaine Eloranta, Kandy Wenke, Sonya Lindly, Karen Duncan, Carol Plummer, and Sandi Wells, became members of the Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism organization. Varsity Rally

This year's Rally Squad worked through football and basketball seasons, cheering at a total of 31 games. They performed in skits and competition yells at the pep assemblies, led the car caravan to South Eugene, and danced a routine at the Spring band concert.

At summer Rally Clinic, Ellen, Lori and Chris won first and second place ribbons during the state-wide competition. The Rally then introduced many of their new yells to the Student Body.

During spring, cheerleaders and yell kings taught Rally candidates selected yells preparing them for Student Body try-outs.

Coach's Corner

The 1966 football season was a building year for the Sheldon Irish. With only one returning starter, Pat Westcott, due to graduation and transfers to Churchill, Sheldon had a relatively "new" team.

Head Coach Dick Arbuckle has great plans for next year's team. He will have fourteen returning lettermen, eleven of those being starters of either offense or defense. He hopes to combine this experience with hard work and spirit and produce an even greater team for next year.

Sheldon was not without its outstanding players. Pat Wescott was named to All District first team, defense; Pat Mallory was named to All District second team, offense; and Steve Ramsey to second team, defense.

The Irish wound up the season with a two win, seven loss season record.

In spite of a respectable 10-8 season record, it was a disappointing year for Irish basketball fans. With experienced returning varsity players and excellent reserves from last year's JV team, it looked as if the Irish would go far. The starting team showed great talent with seniors Dave Naessens, Earle Wicklund, Dave Martin, Dean Wright, and junior Dan Curtis. They played like champions during many games, but frequently had trouble in the closing minutes. Sheldon's chance for district championship was lessened when Dave Martin broke his foot three-fourths of the way through the season. However, the Irish were instrumental in deciding which teams would go to state.

Next year's team will get a big push from the six returning lettermen. Dan Curtis, most valuable player and all-district 3rd team choice, will figure importantly in the Irish title bid.

Coach Roger Diddock said of this year's JV basketball team, "They're rough, tough, and hard to bluff." This scrappy team, though not particularly tall or fast, fought its way to a respectable 10 win—12 loss season record. Bob Goettsch, Mark Peterson, and Gary Prohaska consistently led the team in scoring, while Dave Schwieger and Ron Wilkins were grabbing most of the rebounds. Coach Diddock singled out Gary Prohaska as the most improved player. With the experience they gained this year, JV players will figure importantly on next year's Varsity team.

With only five seniors on the wrestlting squad, Coach Mike Shirk turned to sophomores to provide the power for this year's wrestling team. He said, "This is the best bunch of sophomores I've ever had." Though most of the team were sophomores, the more experienced seniors provided most of the points for the team. Those placing in district competition were seniors Glen McLaughlin (4th, 130 lbs.), Brian Doran (4th, 141 lbs.), Bruce Doran (3rd, 157 lbs.), junior Bruce Johnson (4th, 191 lbs.), and sophomore Rick Willoughby (1st, 98 lbs.). The squad turned in a district record of 1 win, 4 losses, and 2 ties.

This was Sheldon's second year of varsity skiing competition. Coach Ray Hull donated his time to prepare the team for ski meets all over Oregon, from Lakeview to Multopor. The team lacked experience, but performed well throughout the season. Seniors Jon Anderson and Dwight Purdy consistently placed in the upper 15 out of 75 to 120 contestants. Scott Alexander, Jim Rodman, and Jerry Boyum will lead next year's team.

Even some of the players were surprised at the success of this year's varsity baseball squad. There were only four returning varsity players: Jim Fryback, Dave Naessens, Pat Wescott, and Earle Wicklund. Although Paul Kuhn, Paul Martin, Dan Adams, Bill Lathen, and Ron Howard had gained experience on last year's JV team, it looked as if Sheldon's squad would lack the experience to turn in a good season.

From the beginning of the season, Sheldon stayed in contention for the district championship, ending the season with an eleven-win, three-loss record. They went on to the district playoffs, where they were finally eliminated after four games.

Steve Berg hands off to John Sipe in tough 440 relay.

Sheldon's track season was highlighted by fine individual performances, although the team lacked the depth necessary to win track meets. When asked about the team record of three wins and four losses, Coach Youngmayr said the team was "slow at the start of the season, but came back."

Outstanding runners were Bruce Brown in the 100; John Sipe in the 220 and 440; Bruce Reinmuth in the 880; and Jon Anderson in the two mile. The field events were dominated by Dean Wright in the discus; Jerry Beebe in the shot put; Dick Evenson in the javelin; Kevin Rhoden in the high jump; and Vaughn Hodgins in the long jump.

The girls' track team, coached by Miss Rayborn, had a spectacular season, winning five and losing one. Led by sophomore Karin Wicklund, voted Most Valuable Track Member, and junior Melissa Corum, the team won the 1967 District Championship and took second place at the state meet.

Other consistent winners turning in top efforts throughout the season were Karin Stockdale, Charlene Sandberg, and Pam Yarbrough in the 80 meter hurdles; Lindsey Stevenson, Verna Shields, and Barbara Cobb in the 100 yard dash; Verna Shields, Jane Kitterman, and Valda Shields in the 220 yard dash; Bea Homer in the 880 yard run; Chris Murdoch and Nan Collie in the javelin throw; and Sue Monteith in the broad jump.

Sheldon's Golf Team consisted of ups and downs. With only two returning lettermen, the team had little depth. However, Pat Mallory and John Tufts, the returning lettermen, played consistent golf and were followed by sophomore Dave Schwieger and junior Jim Wolfe.

The Golf Team placed Fifth in District which was played at Cottage Grove. This enabled the team to compete in the State Tournament in Portland on May 22 and 23. John Tufts was voted most valuable player.

tennis teams net good season

Both boys' and girls' tennis teams had good season records this year. The boys' doubles team of Most Valuable Player, Glen Barker, and Scott Vollstedt took second in district, and qualified for state. Most Outstanding Girl Tennis Player, ninth-grader Karil Jensen, took second in district and advanced to state. Team captains Dennis Gory and Karma Stephens took pride in both teams' outstanding individual performances.

The School Board and Administrative Staff of District 4 earned Sheldon's appreciation by approving the changes for the "new look" this year.

The "new look" began with the eight-period day and was capped off with the conversion of part of the cafeteria into a student center.

Under the supervision of Dr. Millard Pond, Superintendent of Schools, the School Board kept the schools running according to the laws, made new policies for the district, and saw that they were carried out.

"Sheldon's eight-period day this year emphasizes new freedoms and challenges for students. The resource centers and open labs coupled with independent study privileges provide opportunities for utilization of resources not so readily available in the past."

This was the way Mr. C. Wayne Flynn, principal of Sheldon High, summarized the eight-period day which was initiated this year.

Robert Moursund, assistant principal; Dale Peterson, dean of boys; and Mrs. Luola Rehfeld, dean of girls, assisted him in setting up schedules, rearranging classes, and contending with the general chaos of a new system.

"What is the author saying in this story?" "How can we make our sentences more effective?" These questions echoed and re-echoed through the halls of Sheldon High as students pondered the mysteries of English, from Beowulf to Pygmalion, from the thesis statement to the dangling participle.

History is to be analyzed, not memorized. And so it was at Sheldon this year. Students learned not only what happened, but also its effect on our present world. The Modern Problems class discussed everything from the war in Vietnam to status in school.

Confused about prime numbers? Having trouble with trigonometry? This year a special student tutoring program was initiated in the Math Department to alleviate such problems. In addition, the Resource Center was open to those who wished to work independently. Besides regular studies the geometry students took on a "save-our-banana-tree" project and built a geodisic dome to protect it from the cold.

With studies of green bile agar and flaming chemical experiments, science students still found time to improve test score averages. Science teachers wondered whether the higher performances were due to the eight-period day, with its opportunities for individual help, or the block program, where everyone worked at his own speed. In this year's science program they stressed initiative as a means of success.

This year the new scheduling system allowed students to work off excess energy during an uninterrupted eighty minute period. In addition to regularly scheduled classes, labs were open for athletic enthusiasts and students making up for days they missed. Gymnastics, volley ball, and wrestling were among the after school activities supervised by the P.E. instructors.

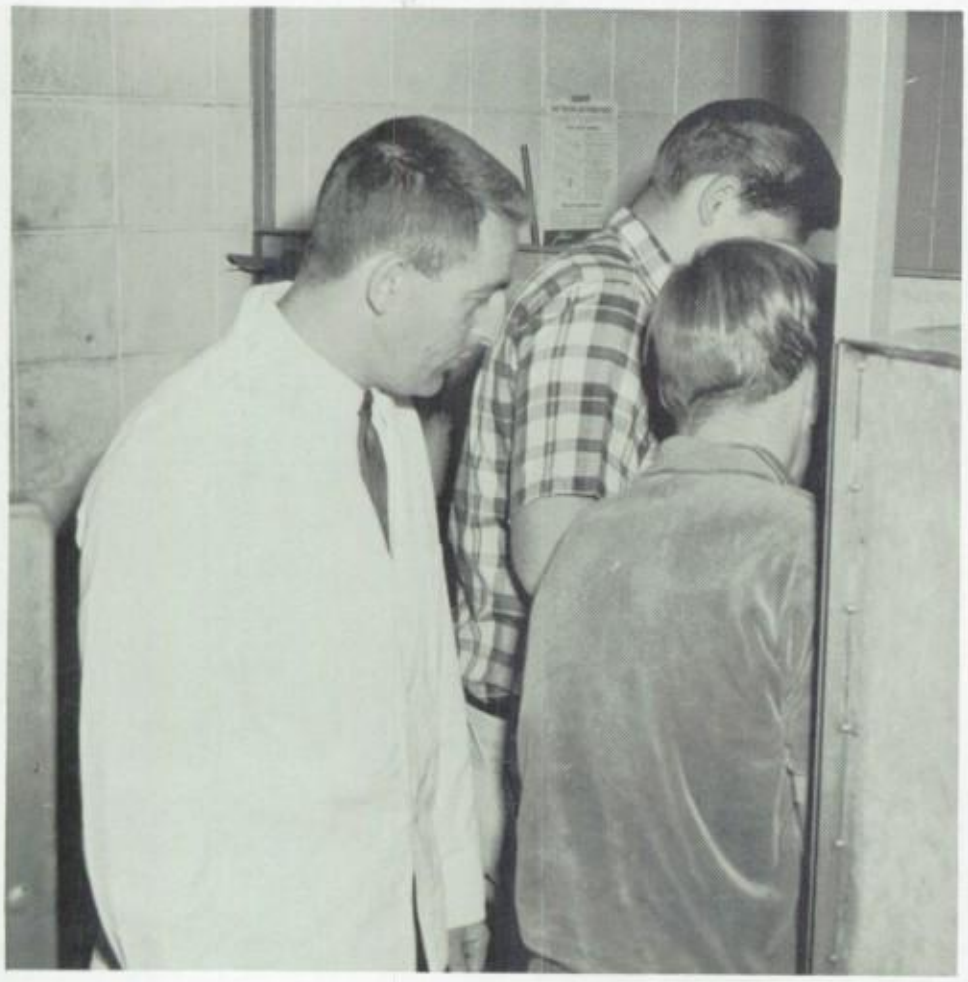
A new learn and earn program was instituted this year for business education students. The students attended regular morning classes; in the afternoon they went downtown where they were employed by local businessmen. Prerequisites for the program included typing and one other business course. Teachers from Sheldon observed the students on the job and received reports from the employers.

Vernon Behrends

INDUSTRIAL ARTS



Marvin Flowerdew

Power mechanics was a popular course offered for the first time this year. Students learned to take apart and assemble engines, including those of their own cars.

Another new program was the work-study situation in which students spent the first half of the day at Sheldon taking academic courses, while in the afternoon they reported to various jobs around the city to learn while working and earning wages.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Students had —% fewer accidents after a Driver's Education course at Sheldon High. Beginning drivers were taught everything from basic traffic rules to the finer points of parallel parking.

In the fall the entire school received a lesson in fast stopping by way of a live demonstration featuring Sheldon students at an outdoor assembly.

Arts and crafts classes encouraged students to express their sometimes hidden creativity. Handmade artifacts of everything from clay dragons to cotton-weave material decorated the walls and showcases throughout the school.

Enrollment in this year's drama classes has doubled as has student participation in dramatic activities.

Under the direction of Patricia Gibson, students in Dramatics I learned the art of applying makeup, studied the history of the theater, and gained skill in voice control and proper physical movement.

Continuing their theatrical experience, students from Dramatics II presented excerpts from Twelfth Night to various English classes.

New to the dramatics department this year was Edward Chilla, technical director and instructor of the stagecraft class. In this course, students had an opportunity to work with the lighting, sound construction, and scenery. They constructed the sets for all of Sheldon's productions.

music

Wayte Kirchner

Under the cooperative direction of Leonard John, Wayte Kirchner, and Paul Stofft, the Sheldon Music Department maintained a fine standard of quality.

The Band, Orchestra, A'Cappella, and Girls' Choir performed at various times for the student body. At the Christmas Assembly the Band provided a lively accompaniment; members of the Orchestra played some recorder numbers; and the A'Cappella Choir added a hearty background to the festivities.

Though specialized books were removed to the various Resource Centers, Sheldon's library still held a "wealth of knowledge," with 2,000 new books added during 1966.

The unique feature of the library was the variety of facilities available. The main room was divided into two sections, one for general studies and one for quiet reading. Other areas included conference rooms, listening booths, and microfilm viewers.

Oh Boy!

I have the whole page to write all I want. Be prepared for anything. You're a great guy Hal and fun to be around. May be we can improve our German this year. Huh? I'd better stop while I'm ahead.

Best of Luck HAL,

Marsha Sherman
